WORLD OF MAGIC

If only I had a magic wand,
It would soothe every pain.
I'd live this day every single day,
With dreams, some new, some incomplete,
Urging me to take flight once again.

It would free all from sorrow,
Filling each moment with joy.
Paths would be easy and radiant,
Success would scatter in courtyard.

If only I could find that wand,
It would gather scattered bonds,
Teach the meaning of closeness,
Bridge distances, bring hearts nearer,
And narrate stories in vivid colors.

At "Open Sesame," doors would yield,
Every wish granted with no knock needed.
I'd hold that wand like a fairy queen,
Spin magic before children's gleaming eyes.

If only laughter sparkled in innocent faces,
A city of dreams would come alive.
Wings would freely embrace the skies,
And incomplete canvases would thrive.

To bridge is our duty …
Necessary in healing this magical world,
May today fulfill all aspirations,
And bring success, endlessly.
